FOREWORD

We, the class of 1935, have prepared and do present this book as a lasting record of the achievements of Northfield High School. It is our sincere hope that it will acquaint our parents and friends with the various activities of Northfield High School and make us remember that chapter of our lives passed at our Alma Mater.

NORTHFIELD HIGH AND GRADED SCHOOLS

HISTORY OF NORTHFIELD HIGH AND GRADED SCHOOLS

What is now Northfield High School was first established in 1870, and was the successor to the Northfield Academy, chartered by the Vermont Legislature in 1846—this being the first regular institution of higher learning in this valley.

The Graded and High Schools opened in September, 1870, with 313 pupils, Marshal R. Peck, A. B., Principal. Its charter was granted in 1872.

The school was then housed in one building—consisting of seven main rooms, used by both high school and grades. In 1904 it was found necessary, on account of crowded conditions, to enlarge the school facilities and the present High School, a commodious brick building, north west of the old school was erected and the High School removed to its new quarters in 1905. The number of pupils at that time was 135.

This school has ever been served by able principals and teachers—the principals being as follows: 1870-72 M. R. Peck, 1872-75 A. R. Savage, 1875-76 Eben Smith, 1876-78 A. W. Blair, 1878-80 W. W. Prescott, 1880-81 A. A. Shaw, 1881-88 J. M. Hitt, 1888-89 I. P. Booth, 1889-90 A. L. Jones, 1890-91 H. O. Aiken, *1891-92 W. S. Spencer, 1892-93 I. P. Booth, 1893-94 A. F. Both, 1894-96 W. E. Hurlbut, 1896-00 C. A. Plumley, 1900-03 H. H. Kibbey, 1903-06 Duane L. Robinson, *1906-07 A. J. Borst, *1907 Miss Prudence Stickney, 1907-09 G. S. Wright, 1909-10 E. G. Baldwin, 1910-12 J. M. Tebbetts, 1912-13 Joseph Wein-trob, 1913-14 H. B. Bryant, 1914-18 R. A. Eaton, *1918-19 E. H. Eastman, *1919 J. J. Finessey, 1919-29 J. J. Finnessey, 1929 J. N. Erickson.

DEDICATION

In grateful recognition of her untiring service to Northfield High School, we, the class of 1935 do dedicate this Rambler with sincerest affection to Mrs. H. A. Whitney, music instructor.

THE FACULTY

To all the teachers we owe a great debt of gratitude for the patience and kindness which has always been shown to us. Although we shall miss your kindly counsel, we shall endeavor to keep it in heart and to be guided by its precepts in the years to come.

JOHN N. ERICKSON, B. S.

Principal

Colby 1928

Instructor in Science and Mathematics

Once again Mr. Erickson has shown splendid executive ability in guiding another class on its journey. To him we express our deepest appreciation for his never-lacking interest and timely advice during these four years.

MISS MYRTLE A. ROGERS

Assistant Principal

Albany Business College 1915

Instructor in Commercial Department

Miss Rogers has done her utmost in aiding us in difficult undertakings with the same cheery attitude that has won our hearty admiration. May she remain a part of N. H. S. for many years to come, for such faithfulness as hers is to be cherished securely.

MISS MARGARET E. SALMOND, A. B.

Colby 1928

Instructor in English and Ancient History

Though the work of the English Department keeps Miss Salmond busy, she finds time to assist and encourage the Editors of the "Rambler," to direct the dramatics in the Senior play, and coach the Debating Team. In the classroom she is an earnest and industrious teacher; but out of classes, a gay and lively companion. With her name will be linked the memories of many pleasant hours.

MISS MARION E. BURNS, A. B.

Georgian Court 1923

Instructor of History and French

Guiding us through the lore of history and the maze of French, Miss Burns has helped us climb over obstacles which otherwise would have been insurmountable. Ever ready to commend and reluctant to condemn, she has endeared herself to all.

MISS MARY BARRY, A. B.

University of Vermont 1918

Instructor of Latin and Civics

During the one year that Miss Barry has been with us, we have found her a very capable and enthusiastic teacher. The class of '35 is fortunate to have been under her instruction.

MISS LEILA M. BATES, Ph. B.

University of Vermont 1930

Instructor in English and Biology

Because of her earnest endeavors, Miss Bates has made of Biology a fascinating study and with great patience, she has guided the underclassmen through the intricacies of English. Beneath her serene and dignified manner lurks a keen sense of humor which exhibits itself on timely occasions. We know that her worth can never be over-estimated.

MISS HELEN WILSON, B. S.

University of Vermont 1930

Instructor in Home Economics

In the one short year that Miss Wilson has been with N. H. S., she has built up this new department of which the entire student body is justly proud. Keen, efficient, helpful, she is indeed a true friend and teacher.

CHESTER P. HARTFORD, B. S.

Norwich 1931

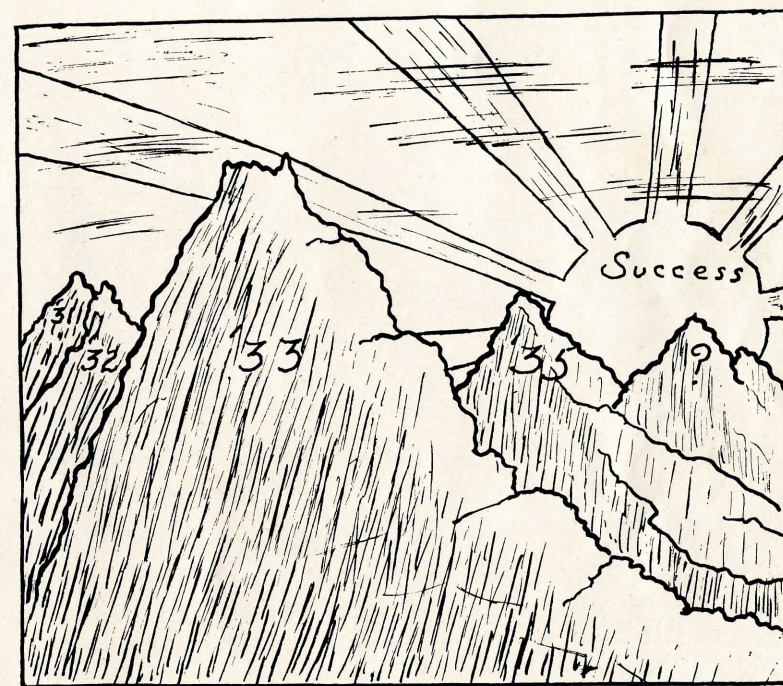

Instructor in Mathematics

Because Mr. Hartford joined the faculty the year we entered N. H. S., we feel that he is especially linked with the Class of '35. An earnest and industrious teacher, he has enlivened many a basketball rally with his boundless enthusiasm. We deeply appreciate his kindly advice and immeasurable interest during our four years of high school.

MRS. H. A. WHITNEY

Instructor in Music

Under Mrs. Whitney's excellent guidance, we have gained a richer knowledge and love of the "Universal Language." Words can never express our deep respect and admiration for her untiring efforts on behalf of N. H. S. With us will always remain a lasting memory of our many pleasant associations with her.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In September, 1931, a large group of "green" Freshmen numbering about 60, entered Northfield High School with one thought in mind—to achieve. After a "merry" reception at the hands of the Sophomores, the "Rooks" entered the building for their first classes as Freshmen. Later on, we were formally received at a reception given by the Sophomores.

Soon it was September again, and this time a jolly group of Sophomores conducted the Freshmen through the usual "rook-day rites." We were well represented in basketball, baseball, and the orchestra, this year. After giving the Freshman Reception, we decided to expand our treasury by giving dances. The dances were a social success (that's about all).

Although our Junior year was clouded with a few disappointments, we gained a deeper insight into the true meaning and worth of high school life.

Our Senior year has been filled to overflowing with all that which makes high school life complete. As the year draws to a close, we must say,

Farewell, Alma Mater, with grief we depart from you. May you always be honored as we have honored, and will continue to honor you. May you always be respected as we have respected you.

DORIS BERNO

Even though Doris does occupy a front seat in the study hall, we know she doesn't sit there for annoying others. Doris tends strictly to her own duties and does each one to the best of her ability.

We give you our best wishes for the future, Doris.

"Red" appears quiet, and is, until—Bang! Then you are collecting your thoughts again and wondering where you ever got that foolish idea.

If you are interested in the effects of over-study, we are sure "Red" could give you a few pointers.

May he acquire as many friends in later life as he has in high school.

Here is "Mike" who says very little but does a lot. He is not very prominent in social affairs but sometimes we can't help noticing him as he, in his good-natured, unobtrusive way, gives a sensible answer to a question that puzzles us all.

Underclassmen

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

How time doth fly! It is hard to realize that our Junior year is nearly completed and that only one brief year of high school days remains. In fact, the memories of our Eighth Grade graduation and those first days of high school life are still quite vivid.

We progressed quite nobly as Freshmen, for the "greenness" didn't remain very long. Possibly that was because we had a large group out for both the orchestra and basketball, two excellent ways of getting acquainted with the school.

The fact that we brought a little money with us from the grades, together with a little of "the more you have, the more you want" spirit, prompted us to give one or two successful dances.

As Sophomores, we gave the Freshman Reception, and in the spring, several members of the class went to Burlington to play in the All-State Orchestra.

This year, we have contributed two debaters to the successful high school team. And now, as the Junior year draws to a close, the class of "36" looks back with pride on three years of achievement.

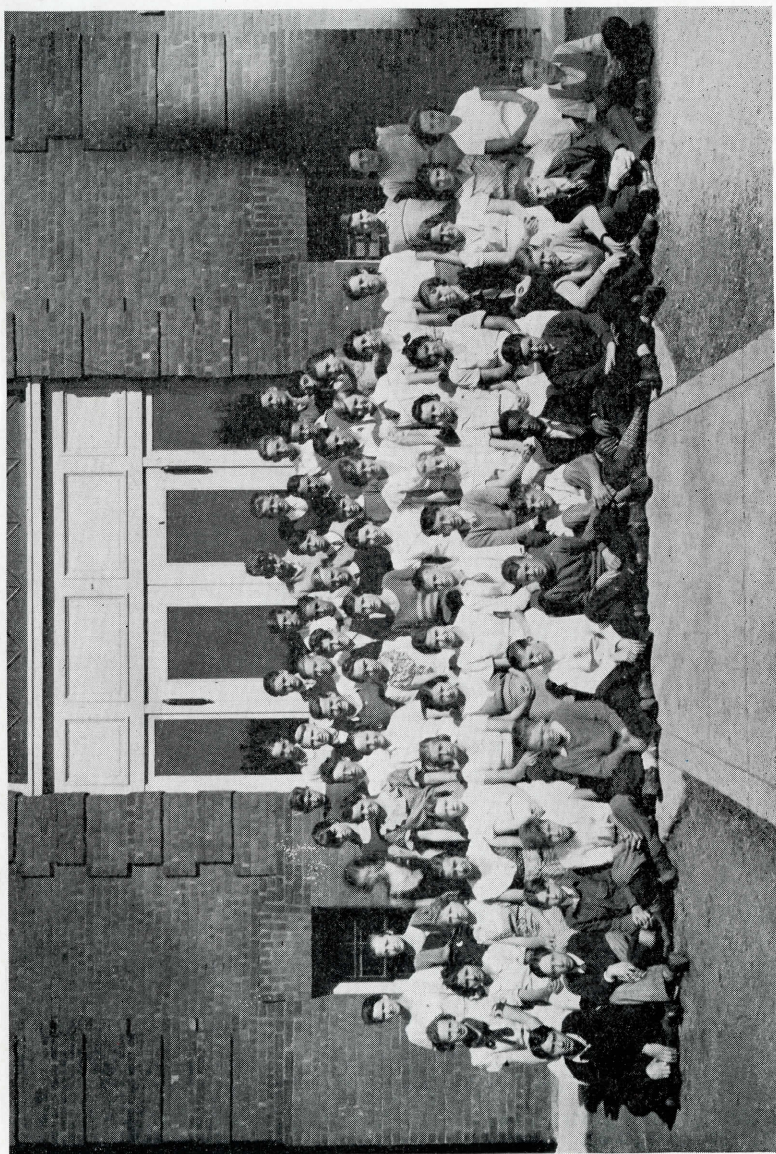

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

Two years ago, about sixty Freshmen, spellbound with smallness and excitement, filed into Northfield High School to adopt the title of "Rooks." The Sophomores gave us a reception in the Armory so that we might get better acquainted.

The beginning of this school year brought most of the Freshmen back to assume the name of Sophomores. We started the year by giving the Freshmen a reception, which we hope was enjoyed by all.

This year, a great number of our class took part in basketball, orchestra, and chorus work, but starred especially in the "German Band." The building might have been seen, any night after school, swaying to the tune of "Where, Oh Where Has My Little Dog Gone?"

The first two years of our high school career have passed and the class of "37" is looking forward to two more years as full of pleasure as the last two have been.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

On a sunny morning in the fall of 1934, a passerby would have noticed a group of students assembled around the door of the large brick building known as Northfield High School. In that group was the class of "38," "Rookies" to the upperclassmen—Freshmen to themselves.

After a few weeks of the usual Freshmen trials, the Sophomores gave us a splendid reception.

The Freshman class has been very active and during the year several food sales were conducted to raise funds. We have also contributed members to the orchestra and basketball. During the winter, straw-rides were held to the basketball games, and all voted them a jolly time.

We hope our next three years in high school will be as happy and successful as this one.

N. H. S. GLEE CLUB

Due to the illness of the music supervisor, Mrs. Whitney, the members of the Glee Club did not have the opportunity to enjoy as many pleasant Friday afternoons in singing period as usual.

The members of the All-State Chorus this year consisted of Seniors and outstanding Juniors. Although the under-classmen are never chosen to go to the Festival, they anticipate this trip and work diligently while they are Freshmen and Sophomores to attain this end.

However, everyone will have a chance to show his ability during the graduation exercises. Under Mrs. Whitney's excellent supervision both sections of the Glee Club have improved a great deal during the latter part of the year.

N. H. S. ORCHESTRA

During the year 1934-35 the High School orchestra has enlarged and improved to quite an extent. In fact, due to the increase in size, Mrs. Whitney has found it necessary to divide it into different groups. This also gives the more experienced players a chance to go further. The "Northfield High Orchestra" includes all thirty-three members. "The Varsity Orchestra," which is everyone's aim, is a smaller group and these players go to Burlington to the Festival. This year there were sixteen playing in the All-State Orchestra at Burlington in May.

We are pleased to have such a fine percentage of the students interested in the orchestra, for we know the music under Mrs. Whitney's direction to be most interesting and instructive.

SENIOR PLAY

On May 10, the Senior Class presented the annual Senior play, "Betty, The Girl O' My Heart," in the Norwich Armory. After about a month of diligent practice, the flower of dramatics bloomed forth in this exciting play.

Sweet, innocent and plucky Betty (Irene Fernandez) arrived at the home of her father, Peter Graves (Lloyd Trombly) and learned that, although he was grimly trying to make the best of a bad bargain, he had been almost ruined by the extravagance of his second wife, the selfish and haughty Mrs. Graves (Marjorie Grundy) and her spiteful and extravagant daughter Elizabeth (Frances Wills). Passing herself off as a maid, Betty went to the rescue, saved her father and captured the heart of a delightful millionaire, Jerry (Robert Stone) whom she mistook for a chauffeur. Marie, a pert maid, (Bertha White) brought many laughs with her aspirations to become a movie star and the cast was completed with Mrs. Jenkins, the shrewd and faithful housekeeper (Jane French) and loyal Martin, the butler (Robert McCauley).

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

In November a large squad of girls answered to the first call for basketball. After a few weeks of strenuous practice, they won their first home game with Williamstown. Having met with some defeats, the team's moment of triumph came when they thoroughly defeated Goddard in the last game of the season.

Although the girls' budget did not balance in regard to wins and losses, some interesting games were played. We sincerely appreciate Coach Erickson's patient efforts and we know that he will always produce N. H. S. teams, trained according to every law of true sportsmanship.

Scores as follows:

	N. H. S.	Opponents

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Although this year's team suffered some defeats, they had a fine record. Most of the games played were close and the boys were rewarded for their fine season's work by being invited to participate in the St. Johnsbury District Tournament.

One of the highlights of the season was the game with Randolph when we came from behind to win after the hardest fought game of the year on the local court.

Prospects for next year are excellent and we feel that future Northfield High basketball teams will be important factors in Vermont basketball.

DEBATING

There is a debate tonight!!! We are all excited and hoping for the best. It is now 7:45 and our opponents have just arrived. Eight o'clock! Why it's time for the debate to begin. Let's sing out theme song "I went to the Animal Fair." Having gotten into a "Good Luck Huddle" we take our places armed with debating cards and the will to win. The chairman is introducing the first speaker and we hear those familiar words:

Mr. Chairman, Honorable Judges, Worthy Opponents, and Friends.

Now it is time for a twelve minute recess to prepare our rebuttal. Hark! the time keepers are gently rapping on our door to tell us the twelve minutes are up. We hustle back to our places to pursue our enemy anew. The battle is over and both sides have stood up well under the strain. All eyes are on the chairman who is scanning the judges' ballots. But his poker face shows nothing. Both sides are looking at the coaches hoping for some knowing sign. Yes, she's smiling, maybe we did win. But if we didn't:

"It is better to have debated and lost
Than not to have debated at all."

Upholding the negative, we lost our first debate to Montpelier Seminary. Changing to the affirmative, we won the next three debates from Bethel, Randolph, and Woodstock. These victories entitled us to enter the quarter finals against Burlington. Although we lost this debate, we feel that we completed a successful season and we are firmly resolved that the Federal Government should equalize educational opportunities by giving aid to the various states.

We wish to future debating teams as much luck as we had, or more, and a coach with the wealth of patience and cheerful encouragement as it was our good fortune to draw.

THE FRESHMAN RECEPTION

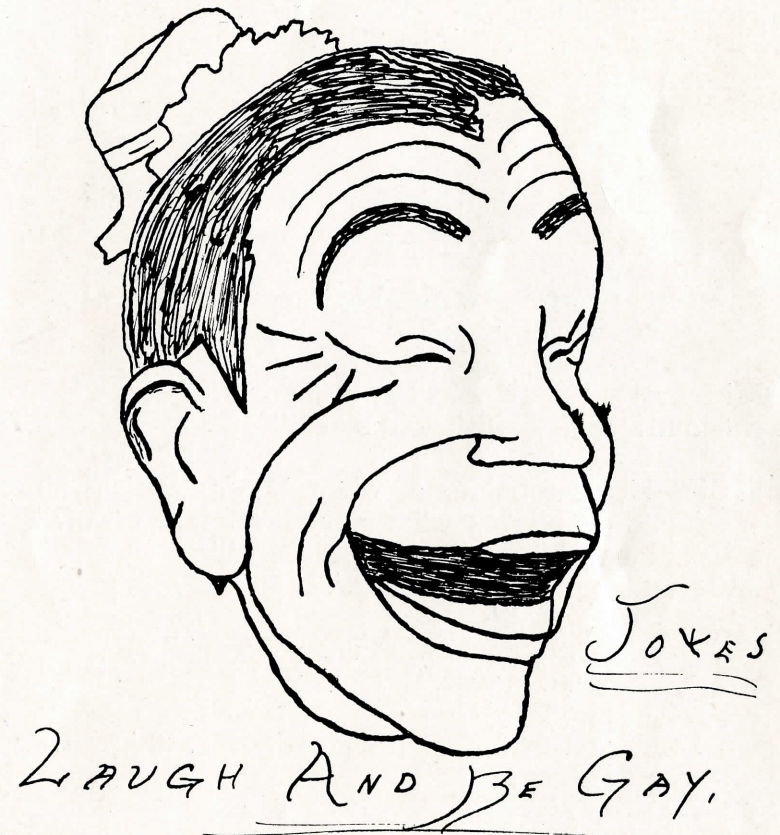

The sophomores gave a party,
 The folks by hundreds came,
 The freshmen, juniors, seniors
 And teachers of every name.
 The janitor waxed the carpet
 And everything was grand
 Everyone led the dancing,
 Larry Pierce's Collegians played the band

The ladies came in colors,
 The gents were somber dressed
 The hall, draped with colors,
 Looked its very best.
 Everyone balanced to their partners
 And gayly fluttered by.
 The sight was like a rainbow-
 New-fallen from the sky.

(Based on Helen Hunt Jackson's "October")

This is the story of the Freshman Reception given by the Sophomore Class in the fall of 1934. This reception enabled the Freshmen to become acquainted with the teachers, the members of the school board, and the class presidents. The hall, prettily decorated, in blue and white, was said to look the best it ever had,

Great merriment was caused when the streamers gradually stretched out, and were entangled in and out around the dancers.. The music, furnished by Larry Pierce's Collegians, was exceptionally good.

"Bill hung his stocking up for Christmas."
 "What did he get?"
 "A notice from the health department."

First Freshman: "What did you get for your history mark on your report card?"

Second Freshman: "An X. What did you get."

First Freshman: "A licking!"

Miss Bates: "I want more fish to practice on in Biology class."

A boy taking a test came to a question he did not know the answer to. He wrote—God knows, I don't.

The teacher wrote on the boy's paper—God passes, you flunk.

Miss Bates: "England, what is dandruff?"
 England: "Chips off the old block."

Maltese: "Miss Salmond, when McCauley is sleeping, do you know what story it reminds me of?"

Miss Salmond: "The Sleeping Beauty?"

Maltese: "No! Sleepy Hollow."

Mr. Hartford: "Welch, what is a polygon?"
 Welch: "A dead parrot."

We wonder where Villemaire got the idea that Hitler lives in Russia.

Question: "What is the difference between a sewing machine and a kiss?"

Answer: "One sews seams nice and the other seems so nice."

"Mummy look—the leaves have falled off the trees."
 "Not falled, darling."
 "Who pushed them off then?"

Biology Teacher: "What is the smallest animal living?" (Now don't look at your neighbor because he might be looking at you).

First Man: "What's the difference between a man who has seen Niagra Falls and a man who hasn't and a ham sandwich?"

Second Man: "I don't know."

First Man: "Well a man who has seen it, has seen the mist. And the man who hasn't seen it has missed the scene."

Second Man: "Well where does the ham sandwich come in?"

First Man: "That's where you bite!"

Cheezy: "You look fed up, Coach."

John: "Yes, I've had a tiring day. That little pest of a Wood came to me with the old gag about getting off for his grandmother's funeral. So just to teach him a lesson I said I would accompany him."

Cheezy: "Ah, not so bad; was it a good game?"

John: "No, it was his grandmother's funeral."

Smart Guy: "There's a big fish on your line."

Fisherman: "Yeah, the hook's caught in the seat of your pants."

Grandma: "My dear, there are two words I don't want you ever to use; one of them is swell, the other lousy."

Grandchild: "O. K., what are they?"

Teacher: "What was the cause of the great plague in 1665 in London?"

Student: "What's the difference as long as we're healthy?"

Mr. Erickson: "When you get your report cards you may pass out." (Most of us feel like it).

N. H. S. HODGE-PODGE

One Knight during a Gale, a White Kidd went Hunting in a Field. He thought he was in England, so he gave Chase to a Lyon, but before the beast could g-Nash his teeth, he lost himself in the Wood. A Welch-man found him c-Ryan and took him to the Barber.

Afterwards, he visited a Hall where the Ferry workers Union met. He was so hungry he was almost Neale-ing, but a Slack Cook asked him if he were Abel to Drown his sorrows and eat some Beans and Brown bread.

After these went down the Hatch, his stomach felt like Stone and the bread like Steele. "I'd rather have Salmond and an O-Henry anyway," said he.

After eating, our Friend became Moody. He rang a Bell and asked how much he was Owen. He searched in his pocket for some Nichols, and drove West in his Karr, which was a big eight cylinder Cole. His Head was Aiken and he was Cross, so he stopped and asked a Shepard where he could get a room for the Knight. His room was on the Lee side of the house and overlooked some French Hedges.

And so our Friend, Mr. Smith, fearing a Flood decided to buy his Christmas presents early and made his Wills which he Barry-ed in the Huntoon (pontoon) of the bridge.

SENIORS

You and your classmates are equal now. You have enjoyed the same school facilities and labored with the same difficulties.

BUT TEN YEARS FROM NOW when you have a class reunion, you and your classmates will no longer be equals. Some of you will have advanced to responsible positions while others will have merely marked time. What will your record be? A thorough business training is the shortest and surest road to a responsible position and a good income.

We shall be glad to send you entirely without obligation a copy of our new college annual entitled, "Business As a Career,".

NORWICH UNIVERSITY

THE MILITARY COLLEGE OF THE
STATE OF VERMONT

Founded 1819

Incorporated 1834

U. S. RESERVE TRAINING CORPS

COURSES LEADING TO

THE DEGREE B. A. OR B. S.

Arts, Chemistry, General Science, Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, and Military Science.

Military instruction, practice and discipline are required of all cadets throughout their stay in the college in faith that a citizen is not fully equipped for his duty to the State unless he is trained for service in its defense as well as for its upbuilding. The story of our Nation's struggles for existence justifies this faith.

"The liberties of Rome were safe while military information was generally diffused and every Roman citizen considered and felt himself a soldier."—Captain Alden Partridge, Founder of Norwich University.
